  - Particularly dynamic activity in North America and contrasting performances in Asia.
  - Very fine performances for several strategic world crops (tomato, sweet pepper, hot pepper, cauliflower, carrot).
  - Marked growth for crops intended for the canning and deep freezing market (sweet corn, bean, pea).

- Slight drop in the operating margin rate to 14.6%, hit by:
  - An unfavorable product mix, particularly due to an increase in varieties intended for canning, with less margin.
  - The application of new phytosanitary regulations, with a temporary effect on the commercial margin.
  - Strong investment in research and development, up by 6 M€.

PERFORMANCES IN 2019-2020. FIELD SEEDS

In M€	2018-2019	2018-2019 restated IFRS 16	2019-2020	Variation vs 2018-2019 restated

(1)With current data

- Solid performance over the fiscal year:
  - Satisfactory commercial campaign in Europe, in spite of a reduction in the sales of sunflower seeds, with a good performance in corn and a very high quality year in rapeseed (market share gains).
  - Strong business growth in the development regions, particularly in South America, with good progression in corn and soybean, and with further strengthening of commercial positions in Brazil and Argentina.
- Ongoing significant increase in sales margin, by more than 2 percentage points, in all the group's strategic geographical areas: Europe, South America and Asia.
- Increase in net operating charges because of the previous year’s non-recurring items:
  - including capital gains on the reorganization of the research company Biogemma;
  - and profit on the disposal of industrial plant devoted to corn seed production in Hungary.
- Intensification of R&D investment, up by 14 M€.
- Consequently, decrease (-2 points) in the current operating margin.

PERFORMANCES IN 2019-2020. INCOME FROM ASSOCIATED COMPANIES

Income from associated companies: 17.9 M€ (-8.1 M€ with current data)

AgReliant (Field Seeds. North America)

- Contribution of 8 M€ (a rise of 6.1 M€ on a constant currency basis) corresponding to total sales of 535.7 M$ and a total net income of 17.8 M$.
- A contribution that rose significantly in 2019-2020, in spite of lower sales:
  - after a year still marked by the deployment of the new commercial organization, initiated over the previous fiscal year, which affected certain AgReliant's dealer networks (sales through dealers);
  - and with a disappointing end of campaign in terms of volumes sold and seed returns.
- Position as the 3rd largest player on the North American corn seed market maintained.
- Further gradual integration of the Syngenta GMO corn trait technologies, in accordance with initial plans.

Seed Co (Field Seeds. Africa)

- Contribution of 1.1 M€ (a drop of 18.2 M€ on a constant currency basis) while the contribution for 2018-2019 included a revaluation profit of 11.1 M€(1).
- Fiscal year 2019-2020 marked by strong business growth outside Zimbabwe, and control over the impacts of the economic crisis in Zimbabwe.
- Intensification of collaborations in field seeds – with the creation of two joint ventures – and in vegetable seeds through the joint venture Prime Seed Co International.

(1) Related to the financial and legal reorganization of Seed Co's international activities.

PERFORMANCES IN 2019-2020. OTHER ASPECTS ANALYZED

- Main impacts of the application of IFRS 16 on the income statement
  - EBITDA: +25.5 M€
  - Operating income: +4.2 M€
  - Financial result: -3.1 M€

- Financial result down 4.9 M€, to 53.3 M€
  - Increase in funding costs of 3.4 M€, as a result of the increase in average indebtedness, in particular due to the external growth operations achieved in South America at the end of 2018 with full impact over fiscal year 2019-2020.
  - Net currency exchange loss of 20.2 M€ (compared to a loss of 8.6 M€ on June 30, 2019), due to the strong drop of certain currencies in the context of the health crisis, and this significantly affected the positions of the group in several currencies (especially Turkish lira, Russian ruble, Argentine peso and Brazilian real), leading to currency exchange losses on transactions settled on June 30, 2020, and negative conversion differences on balance sheet positions.
  - Positive impact of the non-recurring income of 3.3 M€, due to a change in functional currency (from the Argentine peso to the US dollar) for the Argentinian companies, whereas the application of the standard related to hyperinflation (IAS 29) in Argentina had resulted in a charge of 5.3 M€ in 2018-2019.

- Improvement in the global income tax charge of 7.3 M€, to -6.9 M€
  - Decrease of the net tax charge mainly because of the evolution of the economic activity of Vilmorin & Cie's companies, combined with the implementation of tax incentives in certain countries to counter the health crisis (particularly in the United States).

VILMORIN & CIE: AMBITIONS ALIGNED WITH THE ORIENTATIONS OF THE FRENCH GOVERNMENT'S RECOVERY PACKAGE

The French Government's recovery package: 100 billion euros of which 1.2 billion euros for agriculture, with three priorities:

- strengthening of food sovereignty
- adaptation to climate change particularly through a reforestation plan in France
- acceleration of the agroecological transition

Vilmorin & Cie proposes sustainable solutions to meet the challenges of agricultural transition and climate change

- The objective: To reconcile environmental concerns and food security
- How? By breeding and proposing seed varieties that are:
  - better adapted to climates and the specific feature of each region,
  - more resistant to diseases, to water stress, etc.
  - more productive,
  - while meeting the needs of all types of agriculture.

Examples:

The rapeseed varieties LG Aviron and LG Ambassador: with these varieties, thanks to their resistance to the turnip yellows virus, transmitted by an aphid, it is possible to reduce the use of insecticides, while the occasional lack of a supply of nitrogen in the soil is also better tolerated.

Tree seeds: Vilmorin & Cie is the No. 1 private producer of tree seeds in France(1).
=> 2 trees out of 3 in France come from Vilmorin & Cie seeds.
